KECK TO SPEAK AT PHONE CO-OP OPENING FEB. 23

Three Counties To Celebrate Opening Of Dial Telephones

Circuit Judge John A. Keck of Sandy Hook and Walter L. Wolff of the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington, will be principal speakers at a public celebration in West Liberty next Wednesday, February 23, to mark the activation of the dial telephone system of the Mountain Rural Telephone Cooperative in Morgan, Elliott and Wolfe counties.

Woodrow W. Barber, manager of the co-op, said Wolff will present the certificate of quality service to co-op officials and Judge Keck will make the address of appreciation. The celebration will be held in the Morgan County high school auditorium at 7 p.m. The Morehead College concert band will provide music for the celebration. Other speakers will be Commonwealth's Attorney W. Major Gardner of West Liberty and Henry A. Stovall of Hazel Green, vice-president of the co-op. William E. Heagen of Ezel, president of the co-op, will preside and introduce the guests.

Last of the co-op's dial phones were installed two weeks ago and the system now is in operation. Headquarters are in West Liberty with sub-station exchanges at Sandy Hook, Campton, Ezel and Hazel Green.

The co-op, organized three years ago has built 342 miles of lines in Morgan, Elliott and Wolfe counties and now serves over 800 patrons. Nine trunk lines for long distances calls connect with General Telephone Corporation at Morehead and Southern Bell at Winchester.

The complete program follows:
1. National Anthem—Morehead State College Band.
2. Invocation—Rev. Chas. Vansant, Sandy Hook.
3. Welcome—W. Major Gardner, West Liberty.
4. Music—Morehead State College Concert Band.
5. Address—Judge John Keck, Sandy Hook.
6. Introduction of Guests—Wm. A. Heagen, Co-op President.
7. Presentation of Certificate of Quality Service—Walter L. Wolff, R.E.A., Washington, D. C.
8. Response—Henry A. Stovall, Co-op Vice President, Hazel Green.
9. Benediction—Rev. J. Ryan Nevius, West Liberty.

Drawings will be held during the celebration for a number of valuable door prizes.

Caskey Fork Home Destroyed By Fire

The four-room home of Ray Davis on Caskey Fork burned Sunday morning. It was thought the fire caught from a defective flue. The building belonged to Charles Nickell.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis were able to save only three quilts and a mattress. The family consists of the father and mother and two children, aged 7 and 4 years.

The school and welfare department were able to provide them with much of the needed clothing from the supply which had been received from the Wheeling Mission in charge of Rev. and Mrs. Harry Sensen at Burg.

This is the fourth family that has been burned out recently and supplied with clothing from the mission.

THE ALLENS IN EAST KENTUCKY

By Mrs. Irma Wicker Haney
Hodgenville, Kentucky

The Allens, of English descent, were early settlers in Connecticut. After the Revolutionary War many of them moved to Virginia and then to North Carolina.

The first to come to Eastern Kentucky were Bill and George Allen, who came from North Carolina around 1793. It is thought by many that these men were brothers or perhaps first cousins.

Bill settled on the Licking River in Magoffin county and married a Gayheart. Of their children, Adam, the oldest, married a wife named R. L. Vanderpool. Adam's son Daniel married Susanah Taulbee on July 29, 1841 in Magoffin county. They had the following children: Green B., married Leticia Amyx, Bill, John D., Jim, J. P., Irene Barber, Emily Keaton, Plynia Amyx, Rosa Belle Oney, Lou Ellen Patrick and Laddie, who did not marry.

The children of Green B. Allen and his wife Leticia Amyx were raised in the White Oak community of Morgan county and were: W. A. (Coon), Benjamin Roe, Boone, Lula, Minnie Lacy, Pearl Williams.

Boone lives in West Liberty, keeps house by himself, does his

Morgan County Purebred Livestock Association To Be Formed Feb. 24

A meeting of all purebred livestock breeders in Morgan county has been called for Feb. 24 in West Liberty to organize a county purebred livestock association.

The meeting, called by County Agent Carl W. Sinclair, is for all purebred livestock producers, whether they hogs, beef cattle, dairy cattle or sheep. All breeders of registered animals are urged to attend.

Realizing the importance of purebred livestock to Kentucky's prosperity, the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture now has a full time specialist devoting his time entirely to purebred livestock production. Ray Hopper, who is well known by livestock breeders in Kentucky, is now working full time with county purebred livestock associations.

In order to secure the services and help of Mr. Hopper, it will be important for Morgan county to organize a county purebred livestock association. All agricultural agencies are cooperating in this county-wide association which will boost the livestock industry in Morgan county.

Whether a man has one purebred animal or fifty, he can be a member of this association. Every important livestock county has a county organization, according to County Agent Sinclair.

Ray Hopper will be here on Thursday, Feb. 24 at 1:00 p.m. CST for meeting at the new R.E.A. building in West Liberty.

The association will be discussed at this time and officers will be elected. All livestock producers whether they breed hogs, beef cattle, dairy cattle, or sheep are invited to attend this interesting and important meeting. It is particularly important that all breeders of registered animals attend this meeting.

WATERSHED MEET IS HELD IN COUNTY

A series of Community meetings have been held during the past three weeks in the Red River pilot watershed to inform the people of the need for this type of program, what the needs in the watershed, what is being planned to meet the needs, and the benefits that will be realized in the completion of the project.

SCS technicians who are in charge of the watershed program planned and held meetings at Toller, Hazel Green, Gilmore, Lee City, Helechwah, and Adele. Morris Caudill, work unit conservationist, Campton, Ray Wethington, engineer, Clay W. Ratliff, planning technician, and Mr. Staley, forester with the Kentucky Division of Forestry, discussed the various phases of the watershed program.

Technician movies on soil erosion, pasture, woodland management prepared by the SCS and Forest Service, were shown. Farmers present at the Adele meeting from that community were: Chalmers Prater, Robert Fletcher, Walton Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Jones (in whose store the meeting was held). Talmage Lacy, Gilmore, Carl Whitaker, Malone, and Asa Kempton, Woodburn. Other SCS personnel present were H. A. Wallace, soil scientist, William B. Thomas, soil conservationist and Berlyn Brown, work unit conservationist, West Liberty.

Local watershed organizations in Kentucky, primarily Soil Conservation districts, have submitted 136 applications for assistance to the Kentucky State Department of Conservation. Each application is being studied by the SCS and given a preliminary priority rating.

The 122 Soil Conservation districts in Kentucky have reported a total of 934 watersheds in need of treatment and protection, according to H. K. Gayle, State Conservationist of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

Hope-Aiken Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act passed by Congress in 1954 provides ways and means for the Federal Government to assist local watershed organizations, and local and state governments in the planning and treatment of small watersheds.

15 At Farm and Home Development Meeting

The Morgan County Extension Service held the last in a series of Farm and Home Development meetings Monday. Nineteen people representing 10 farm families were present.

County Agent Carl W. Sinclair discussed the farm record book, and Evelyn Sinclair discussed the home part of the farm and home record book. Two sound films, "The Bright Future," illustrating proper lighting in the home, and "Farm Work Simplification" were shown by the county agent.

Wilmer Browning, University of Kentucky Area Agent in Farm and Home Development, was present for the meeting.

Those who attended the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Skaggs, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cox, Noah Elam, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Cecil, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Tyra, Arnold Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Rowland and Willie Henry.

PAROLE OFFICER SPEAKS TO CLUB IN WEST LIBERTY

Rev. M. B. Whitt of Wrigley, State parole and probation officer in Morgan and nearby counties, addressed the Kiwanis Club at its dinner meeting Wednesday on the topic, "Building for the Future."

Rev. Whitt said that when we look back in retrospect we see that life is made shorter when we have wasted time and effort, all it is the future that is important.

"I remember years ago when a small boy and I came to West Liberty for the first time; but today all the places of business that existed then are gone; new ones have taken their place; and the men who once lived there are gone, and others have taken their place. So will it be with us."

"It is the people and the youth of today who are the foundation on which the future will be built."

"And our youth need a firm foundation. Remember, character and education are the greatest investments and will pay the greatest dividends."

"Let us start a crusade to help the children ward off the evils and dangers that beset them—evils that have destroyed so many people. What must we do? Let's not wait until they commit crime and are in trouble; it is often too late then. We should do something now."

"There are many evils around them. We need prevention. Not only do we need the Kiwanis Club, that has sponsored so many good things for the county, but we also need the help of the churches, the schools, lawyers, doctors and business people all to help do the job."

Rev. Whitt was introduced by Kiwanis President H. D. Potter, who said Whitt had been state parole and probation officer for seven years and a Baptist minister for many years.

John T. Moore of West Virginia was guest of Mr. Potter. Paul Williams made a report on the auto tags which the members had sold.

Dr. Alec Spencer made a report on three members who had returned from hunting in Georgia. They were Dr. Ralph Gullett, Paul Williams and Joe Haney. The bulletin he read to the club reported they had killed five "something."

TOBACCO INCOME IS ABOVE 2½ MILLION

Morgan county's cash income from the 1954 burley tobacco crop went past the 2½ million dollar mark this week as checks from late sales continued to come in.

A total of 3,722 tobacco checks have cleared through the Commercial Bank here since the opening of the selling season Nov. 30 for a total of $2,503,274.61.

Observers estimate that about all tobacco checks are now in and that the figure will not go very much higher.

All tobacco markets have now closed. Lexington and Maysville held their clean-up sales today (Thursday).

Kentucky's 29 markets sold 474,835,617 pounds during the season for an average of $49.87 for the season.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO LEAD HEART DRIVE

The Morgan County Woman's club will sponsor the campaign this year to obtain funds for research and control of heart diseases. At a meeting of the club last week the president Mrs. Crystal Howard, appointed Mrs. Basil Sheets as chairman of the drive, which will be conducted Monday evening, Feb. 21 between the hours of 7 and 8 p.m.

Appointed to serve with Mrs. Sheets were Mrs. Woodrow L. Stamper, Mrs. Victor Terrell and Mrs. Joe R. Nevius.

Workers have been named to canvass the residential sections of town at the set time Monday night, but, deviating from regular procedure, the business places will not be canvassed. Instead, plastic heart containers will be placed in all business places, and it is asked that everyone contribute to the drive.

Glenn Avenue workers are Mrs. J. R. Nevius and Mrs. H. D. Potter.

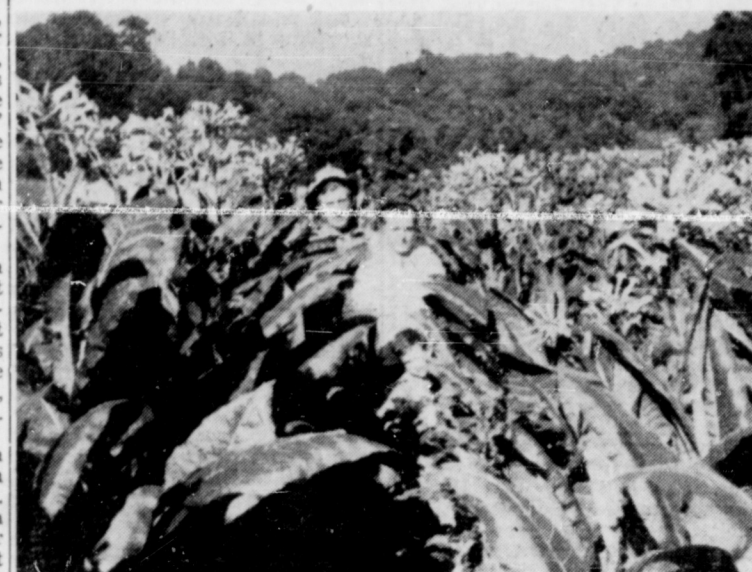

Broadway—Gene Haney. Prestonsburg Street—Mrs. Basil Sheets and Mrs. James Elam. Main street, other than business places Mrs. Victor Terrell and a worker yet to be named.

Riverside Drive, including side streets—Mrs. Woodrow Stamper. A few workers are yet to be named, but all will be ready to call at homes Monday for heart fund contributions.

BIRTH OF A SON

Born Feb. 11 to Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Smith of West Liberty, a son, at a hospital in Huntington.

Producing Lower Nicotine Burley Is Prime Problem Facing Growers

Morgan county already is producing a large quantity of low nicotine content varieties of burley. While the average nicotine content of burley is above 5%, a laboratory test of some Morgan crops last season showed the nicotine content below 2½%. Cigarette manufacturers knew this, which probably explains why so many Morgan growers received from $2 to $29 a hundred above support price for their crops last year.

CIRCUIT COURT OPENS MONDAY

The February term of Morgan County Circuit Court will be convened in West Liberty Monday, Feb. 21, by Judge John A. Keck of Sandy Hook.

Misdemeanors are set for the first day of term, felonies for the second and third and civil cases will be assigned on the first day for trial later in the week. The term will last a week and maybe longer, court officials said this week.

Among the 44 felonies on the docket is that of Clyde Ward of Moon charged with rape in an indictment returned at the last term. The case is set for next Wednesday.

There are no murder cases on the docket and none for grand jury investigation.

Green Bean and Strawberry Meet Called Feb. 25th

A county-wide meeting to discuss strawberry and green bean production has been called by County Agent Carl W. Sinclair. The meeting will be held at the theatre in West Liberty Friday, Feb. 25 at 1:30 p.m. CST. W. I. Farmer, University of Kentucky field agent in fruits and vegetable marketing, will be present to discuss strawberry and green bean production and marketing.

Strawberries and green beans are potentially high income cash crops and so far there is no base required for the production of these two supplementary cash crops.

Mr. Farmer comes to Kentucky from California where he had experience and training in commercial fruit and vegetable marketing. He will show color slides on production and marketing of the strawberries.

Strawberry plants are still available and Walter Franklin, circuit clerk, is now taking orders for delivery of strawberry plants in March.

Farm Loan Meeting To Be Held March 5

The Eastern Kentucky National Farm Loan Association will hold its annual meet Saturday morning, March 5, at the office upstairs in Salsersville National Building, Salsersville, on U.S. 460. This was announced by Edward D. Hobbrook, secretary-treasurer of the association.

The date was set by the association's board of directors at its regular January meeting on the recommendation of a membership committee made up of farmers from each of the sixteen counties served by the organization. The board authorized B. E. Whitt of West Liberty to act as chairman of the business meeting and to present the names of members for election as directors. The two directors whose terms expire at this meeting are L. W. Blankenship, Hazel Green, and J. A. Lewis, Route 3.

On the membership committee are L. C. Pritchard of Elliott county, Elsie Conley of Magoffin county, John A. Lewis of Rowan county, E. A. Cecil of Morgan county, and L. W. Blankenship of Wolfe and Morgan.

RESTAURANT BURNS

Rodney Gillespie, Hazel Green, received word Monday that fire had destroyed his restaurant in Green Cove Springs, Florida. Mr. Gillespie had returned only a few days earlier from Florida where he had spent two months supervising the modernization of the restaurant.

U. K. SPECIALIST SAYS FLUE CURED IS SELLING BETTER

87 Morgan Growers Attend Meet Here To Study Problem

Producing burley tobacco of lower nicotine content to meet the growing competition from low-nicotine flue cured tobacco is the chief problem facing burley growers, Ira Massey, tobacco specialist from the Kentucky Agriculture Extension Service, told Morgan county growers at a county-wide meeting in the Morgan county high school here Monday evening.

Eighty-seven interested burley producers of the county attended the tobacco meeting, the largest number ever to attend a similar meeting here. The meeting was called by County Agent Carl W. Sinclair to discuss the seriousness of burley's role in the changed demand for tobacco since the cancer scare hit the industry.

Cigarette manufacturers want lower nicotine tobaccos in order to satisfy the smokers' demand for this type cigarette, Mr. Massey said.

Paul Williams, vocational agricultural teacher at Morgan County high school and Paul Shipley, assistant teacher of vocational agriculture teaching in the Institutional On-Farm Training Program for veterans, attended the meeting.

Ira Massey and George Everett, tobacco specialists from the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Kentucky, discussed all phases of tobacco production and showed color slides illustrating improved practices in all phases of tobacco production.

More Flue Cured Used

Mr. Massey said this was a critical period for producers of burley tobacco. He explained that four types of tobacco went into the modern ready-made cigarette—Flue Cured, Burley, Maryland, and Turkish tobaccos. Flue cured contains from one to one and five-tenths percent nicotine whereas burley has been running over five percent nicotine.

He quoted figures to show that more and more flue cured tobacco is being used in cigarette blends because the tobacco industry and smokers are demanding a cigarette that has a tobacco blend that contains two percent nicotine. Mr. Massey says this explains why flue cured tobacco growers have had an increase in tobacco base each year whereas burley tobacco growers have had a constant cut in tobacco acreage. He explained that the goal of burley tobacco men was to produce a crop in Kentucky averaging three percent nicotine and then burley and flue cured could be matched in blends pound for pound.

Mr. Massey said that it was every producer's job to try and reach this goal now, this year, and that the future of the burley tobacco industry in Kentucky depended on the cooperation of each individual grower. He explained that this is hard to teach because it is something that you can't see, and it did not especially mean that a grower would receive a larger price for his crop, but it is the most important problem facing burley tobacco growers in Kentucky.

CLUB IS ALARMED OVER MAD FOXES

Fifteen sportsmen attended the February meeting of the Morgan County Fish and Game Club in Stamper's dining room Tuesday evening.

A delegation from the Wrigley section expressed deep concern over the possibility of rabies among foxes in that area and County Conservation Officer David Adams next day telephoned the State Department of Fish and Wildlife about the suspected menace. He was advised to save the head of any fox killed and send it to the state laboratory to be tested for rabies.

Rabid foxes have been reported in several mountain counties, and four cows in the Wrigley section recently died of rabies. A clinic to vaccinate dogs in that area is being held at Wrigley today by a State-approved veterinarian under direction of the county health department.

President Jasper Dennis appointed a membership committee to start a drive for members. Refreshments of coffee and donuts were served to those attending. The club meets the second Tuesday night of each month.

Youth Revival At 1st Church of God

The young people of the First Church of God extend a welcome invitation to the people of Morgan county to attend a three nights revival beginning Feb. 18 at 7 p.m. each night.

Rev. Joe Smith, a young evangelist, will be preaching. Rev. Smith formerly attended Anderson College and Theological Seminary.

FARM VALUE DECLINES

Farm land values in Kentucky are expected to decline just a little this season.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

It's the interest we are taking in our fellowman's career.

That will help to make a heaven in that land that's over there.

If we make no friends of neighbors, try to live this life alone.

It would hardly be a heaven, meeting folks we've never known.

Trigger-Torque Power

For '55, Ford offers the brilliant-performing new Y-block V-8 and the even more powerful Y-block Special V-8. Both deliver Trigger-Torque power, which means you get the power you want when you want it, throughout the entire driving range of your car. With new Trigger-Torque Power you can have split-second starts . . . faster passing ability for a greater feeling of security . . . top-notch response at all speeds. And with Ford's high-compression, low-friction design and deep-block construction, you can enjoy smooth performance and long engine life.

Relax in the smooth comfort of new Angle-Poised Ride

Ball-Joint Front Suspension, which Ford introduced in its field last year, has proved itself over billions of miles. For '55 it is still better. Springs are set at an angle to absorb shock from the front as well as straight up. This provides delicate responsiveness to cushion tiny bumps as well as husky "muscle" to flatten big bumps.

Take your pick from 16
brilliant new Ford Models

This year, you get Thunderbird-inspired styling in any Ford you choose. And there's a variety of excitingly new single and two-tone body colors with charmingly color-keyed Luxury Lounge Interiors.

Come in for a Trigger-Torque Test Drive!

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEREETH at any drug counter.

HOLLIDAY (By H. H. Holliday)

Feb. 14—Since my last writing this community was saddened by the sudden death of one of our beloved citizens, Burns Collins-worth, who died of a heart attack. He had been in poor health for some time but was not thought to be serious. He was a coal miner in his younger days and had been doing farm work for the past two decades. He leaves a wife, Eva Smith Collinsworth, and one son, Willie. He has several grandchildren. The writer extends sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Harrison Holliday decided to take a college course at Morehead with several of Morgan county teachers who go down on a bus which is furnished by Supt.
Stewart each Monday night. The course they have chosen is Science for Teachers.

The severe cold spell here with nine inches of snow caused the mail boy not to run Friday of last week but he did go Saturday and so we got the copy of The Courier which we read over the week end.

Harrison Holliday who teaches at Trace Fork says he heard from Ralph Brown, SCF director for this section, who says the school will be sponsored this year. He plans to visit his school and at Rockhouse where Mrs. Anos Conley is teaching, this week.

Mrs. Frank Gullett gave a household shower in honor of Mrs. Ruie Gullett Clark who was married only a short time ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Adams and daughter of Stacy Fork were the Sunday guests of Mrs. Bryan
Lacy.

DEED C. CONLEY DIES

Deed C. Conley, 65, of Falcon, died Feb. 2 in the Veterans' hospital in Huntington. He was born at Wheelersburg, near the Magoffin-Morgan line, a son of Hoson and Mary E. Conley and married Pearl Blanton. Funeral was at the State Road United Baptist church and burial was at Falcon.

MORGAN NEEDY RECEIVE $25,384

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 14—
Residents of Morgan county drew a total of $25,384 in public assistance payments for January—covering old age assistance, aid to dependent children and aid to needy blind—it was reported today by Commissioner of Economic Security Vego E. Barnes.

County payments in January included $15,206 for old age assistance; $8,615 in dependent children payments, and $1,563 for the needy blind.

Ezel Homemakers Met At Rose Home

The Progressive Homemakers of Ezel met at the home of Mesdames John and Harold Rose for the February meeting on gardening, given by Mrs. J. D. Mays.

Mrs. Mays also gave the Scripture reading, choosing the 6th chapter of John. Prayer was by Mrs. Harold Rose. Thought of the month, "My Gift," by Mrs. Conrad Rowland.

The roll call was answered by telling the project most enjoyed in the club.

Mrs. Harold Rose gave an interesting report on Farm and Home Week in Lexington.

A delightful recreation period was enjoyed, directed by Mrs.
Boyd Anderson.

Refreshments of frozen lemon pie, tea and coffee were served to Mrs. D. W. Ingram, Mrs. J. D.
Mays, Mrs. Boyd Anderson, Mrs.
Marion Rowland, Mrs. Conrad
Rowland, Mrs. Clay Wade Nick-ell, Mrs. Roy Cox, Mrs. E. A. Ce-

Wade McClure, 72, Dies In Oklahoma

James Wade McClure, 72, native of Ezel and a retired farmer and former county and State of Oklahoma employee, died Jan. 23
in Oklahoma City, Okla., following an illness of about two years.

McClure had lived on the same farm four miles west of Welch, Okla. for the past 36 years. He had resided in the Welch community since 1905. He was born April 4, 1882, in Morgan county, Kentucky. He was a member of the First Christian church, Welch, and of the Welch Masonic lodge.

His wife, Mrs. Lou Ellen Mc-Clure, died Aug. 3, 1951.

McClure served as Craig county undersheriff from 1940 to 1941, and as a state investigator from 1942 to 1945. He was an adjutor for the state board of affairs from 1947 to 1951.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Byron Smith, Tulsa; one son, Lloyd McClure, Rt. 1 Welch, three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Services were in First Christian church, Welch. Burial was in the Welch cemetery.

West Liberty Native Dies In Oklahoma

The Courier has just been informed of the death last Nov. 5
of Mrs. Delphine Carr Bierman, 47, in Mercy Hospital in Oklahoma City of cancer.

She was born in West Liberty, a daughter of Ellis M. Carr and the late Dell Kendall Carr. Her mother died when she was two years of age and her father took her and her sister and brother to Oklahoma to live with an aunt, Mrs. Emma Jeffress. She attended school in Oklahoma City and at Ada, Okla.

Funeral and burial was at Oklahoma City.

The deceased was a member of the Eastern Star and the Baptist church.

Besides her aunt, she is survived by her husband, Ed J.
Bierman; a daughter, Elaine Ann,
and son, Paul Edward Bierman,
all of Oklahoma City; her father,
E. M. Carr, Ada; a sister, Mrs. R.
H. Bourne, El Reno; a brother, Denzel Carr, Berkeley, Calif., and a half-brother, J. C. Carr, Ada.

The deceased was a niece of Rev. J. B. Kendall of Lexington;
Mrs. Elizabeth Neal of Wilmore
and C. H. Kendall of Detroit.

GIVE YOUTH A CHANCE

The old adage that youth should be seen and not heard is not upheld by society today. Instead, youth of our country are being given places of importance in every community activity. It is with pride we note the emphasis that churches of West Liberty are placing on their youth programs.

West Liberty's young people are more than willing to do their part in any activity of church, school or community. They are alert to possibilities for recreation, as well as work, and are quick to make suggestions. Once they have the germ of an idea for a project, they look to the elders for guidance and help in carrying out their plans. At a recent church party thirty young people were present. That same night, twenty-five Boy Scouts gathered for their regular meeting. It would be safe to assume that, had each of the four churches in West Liberty sponsored a youth event that same evening, the attendance at each could have been twenty-five or more. In a community the size of West Liberty, a total of one hundred youth between the ages of eleven and eighteen, all engaged in supervised play and work, would be an impressive figure.

With increased effort on the part of citizens of West Liberty, we can boast a youth program that would set an example for other communities, some of whom are greatly troubled by that menace of our era, juvenile delinquency. Young people have lots of energy, and it should be used in ways to benefit society. Busy minds and bodies are not likely to find time for activities that lead to juvenile court. Apart from home training—which is the first influence felt by a child—the part the community plays in emphasizing youth work is of vital importance.

James C. Zimmerman, office manager of the Spencer Chemical Company's plant at Henderson, Ky., has been named director of Industrial Development of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce to succeed Walter B. Interest in Strawberry Planting Is Increasing; Orders Being Taken March is the time for setting strawberry plants in Kentucky, according to County Agent Carl W. Sinclair. The plants of the certified Tennessee Beauty variety are available.

Walter Franklin, circuit court clerk, has been producing strawberries and is interested in strawberry production as a supplemental cash crop for Morgan. Mr. Franklin is now taking orders for strawberry plants to be delivered in March. He is doing this as a free service to the farmers of the county.

The following persons have ordered plants and plan to have a small acreage this year—Archie Smallwood, Grassy Ck. Clint Whitt, Redwine Ventus Burton, Payton J. P. Wheeler, Grassy Creek Curt Jackson, Ezel Jim Caudill, West Liberty M. T. Williams, West Liberty Arnold Brown, White Oak Estill Franklin, Cottle Bishop Benton, Index Howard Standafer, Zag

The Tennessee Beauty cost $10 per thousand, plus delivery fees. Any order for 400 or less are shipped postpaid. Plants should be ordered immediately for setting in March.

own cooking and is a right good cook for a lad of 85 years. He is a member of the West Liberty Whittlers Club (no dues) and can be found on the town square most any day the weather permits.

Miss Lula Allen, after many years of service in May Wholesale Grocery of West Liberty, is retired and lives a quiet but active life at White Oak. She is treasurer of the White Oak Christian church and one of the church's most zealous workers.

More is known about the pioneer George Allen's ancestry than of Bill's. It is known that the father of George was John Allen, the Revolutionary Soldier from North Carolina, Hillsboro District. John married Janet Coleman of Virginia and her father Samuel Coleman was a Revolutionary Soldier from Virginia. He was married to Sarah Lyons. John Allen left a will in Orange County, N. C. dated 1812, naming his wife and children. There is no mention of a son Bill. For this reason it is believed that Bill and George were cousins.

From the marriage of George Allen and Cynthia Patton, we have the following children: David, born about 1800, married Jennie Martin; William, born about 1800, married Nellie Osborn, born December 14, 1838; Samuel, born April 6, 1821, died March 10, 1851, married Sarah Osborn, born February 28, 1827, died November 30, 1901; Felix, born 1814, died 1907, married Rodah Martin, born September 12, 1823, died February 22, 1863; Jackson born 1815, married Susan Gayheart; Sally, born about 1817, married Ruben May, born about 1800 (a son of John and Sarah Phillips May, Pike county); Cynthia born July 15, 1819, died November 10, 1884, married Hiram Begley; Archable Allen, born May 25, 1820, died October 2, 1888, married Florenda Gayheart; and John born January 1, 1829, died 1896, married Parthena Osborn, born November 12, 1831. The census of 1850 gives many of the above dates.

Many of the descendants of these pioneer settlers can still be found in Eastern Kentucky.

MORGAN NATIVE WRITES

Sheriff Aaron Lykins had a letter from Harlan Allen in Charleston, W. Va. this week asking if there were electricity, telephones, or gas on Vance Fork of White Oak. Harlan was born and reared there and taught school a number of years. He is a lawyer now in Charleston and for three years has been ill but said he was now back in his office.

There is a good highway up past the place where Harlan was reared. There is also electricity, but no gas or telephones. Mr. Allen has been sent a copy of the Courier so he can see what is going on.

TEMPERATURE 2 ABOVE ZERO REPORTED HERE

John Turner, official U. S. weather observer in West Liberty, reports the temperature dropped to 2 degrees above zero here Saturday morning. On Sunday morning the temperature registered 4 degrees above zero at the water plant in West Liberty. But some thermometers in West Liberty showed readings lower than that, and Courier correspondents in some rural sections of the county report much colder temperatures. A low of 21 below zero was reported from Florriss Sunday, 14 below at Linton, 8 below at White Oak and 12 below at Yocum.

Jefferson County Officers To Back Judge Bert Combs

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 16—A group of Louisville and Jefferson county officials—about 43 in all—will support Bert T. Combs for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

The vote of confidence for the Prestonsburg candidate came Tuesday at a closed meeting attended by Gov. Lawrence Wetherby and Lt. Gov. Emerson Beauchamp.

Combs' rival, A. B. Chandler, called the action a "waste of time," and claimed the Democrats would nominate him in the Aug. 6 primary.

Chandler, opening state headquarters here, also said he is running his political wagon "with the tail gate down" and invited everyone aboard.

An antiadministration candidate, he promised to prevent waste and extravagance if elected governor. "And I'm an old hand at that," he added.

Andrew Broadus, Mayor of Louisville, said the action to back Combs was "unanimous . . . on the part of everybody present."

Those attending the session said no mention was made of prospective candidates for lieutenant governor, attorney general or the other state offices.

OBITUARY

BOLEN

Henry Clay Bolen, son of John and Ella Pack Bolen, was born March 27, 1872, and died Sunday, Feb. 5, 1955, past 82 years of age.

He was married to Eva Pok. To them were born nine children, all deceased except one son, Lynn, who made his home with his dad.

For the past three months he was cared for at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bradley at Silver Hill who was his request. He was converted and had been a member of Union church for a number of years and lived a devoted Christian life.

Funeral was held at the Union church and burial was in the Hamilton cemetery at Silver Hill under direction of Potter Funeral Home of West Liberty. Prayer was by sister Nettie Bradley and brief talks by Elders A. C. Bradley, Floyd Wright, Tom Wright, Byron Smith, R. H. Ferguson and D. W. Beculhimer.

BIRTH OF A SON

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lykins of West Liberty announce the birth of a son Feb. 12 at Gullett and Spencer Clinic. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Lykins of West Liberty. Mrs. Lykins is the former Miss Marie Perkins, daughter of Mrs. Recie Perkins of Michigan, formerly of Morgan county.

A Want Ad placed in the Courier will bring quick results.

JOHN ADAMS, 76, DIES WEDNESDAY

Surviving are one son, Lonus Adams of Dayton, Ohio, and four daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Lykins of Caney, Mrs. Goldie Gullett of Mt. Sterling, Mrs. Bell Johnson of Caney and Mrs. Mabel Wells of Dayton, and one brother, Crayton Adams of Caney. Burial will be in the Caney cemetery under direction of Potter Funeral Home.

DEVILS DEFEAT OLD FOE 71-51

The Morgan Blue Devils ran their season record to an 8-win 12 loss mark this week, suffering an 80-58 setback at the hands of Oil Springs there Friday night before coming to a 71-51 verdict over Salsersville on the local hardwood Tuesday evening.

Snow and hazardous road conditions forced the Devils to make the trip to Oil Springs with only 5 players off the Blue first 10. Only four Morgan lads were there for the B team contest. Thus Devil Coach Glenn Stanley was forced to use substitute forwards Joe Lykins in both the second and first team games.

Although the Blue Devils stayed close behind the home town Wildcats during the first half, the sharp-shooting Oil Springs quint built their 6 point halftime edge into a 19 point three-quarter lead and were never in danger from there on.

Morgan Guard Larry McKenzie paced the Devil attack registering 23 markers. Conley topped the Wildcat pointmakers with 21. The win gave the Wildcats an even split with the Morgan team in season play as the Devils had defeated the Johnson county team by 10 points earlier.

The Blue Devils were at full strength here Tuesday night in their contest with their arch rival, the Salsersville Hornets. The Morgan lads showed plenty of marksmanship as they blazed at a 40 percent shooting pct. to defeat the Magoffin lads and thus avenge an earlier 3 point loss to the Hornets.

Led by Larry McKenzie who whipped through 27 points, the Blue Devils grabbed a 17-10 first quarter lead and built it to a 20-point 71-51 advantage during the final three periods. Gilliam led the Hornets, registering 14.

The Morgan team will travel to Louisa Friday night and then return home Tuesday for an engagement with Sonny Allen's Breck Eagles.

HOWARD MARRIAGE TOLD

Mattie Howard, 51, of Morehead, and Henry Howard, 51, also of Morehead, were married Dec. 11 at Lawton with Rev. Milton Haywood performing the ceremony. The bride is a daughter of F. M. and Georgia Hays, Frenchburg, and Mr. Howard is a son of Berry and Eliza Howard of Sandy Hook.

MORGAN BURLEY

As a variety low in nicotine that was a more stand-up type than Ky. 16 and that it produces a good yield of a good quality fluffy tobacco, Ky. 58 is resistant to the diseases root-rot and mosaic.

Burley 21 is a wildfire resistant variety, but nothing is known about the nicotine content and seed has to be purchased from the University of Tennessee Experiment Station. He cautioned farmers to try it on a field experimental basis only.

A soil high in fertility is necessary to produce a good crop and Massie urged farmers to have a balanced fertilization program. He stressed the use of fertilizer materials high in phosphate and potash. Most of the potash in tobacco fertilizer should be of the sulphate instead of the muriate form. Potash from the muriate form tends to produce white stems in tobacco and to produce leaf that will hold water and be in too high case at selling time. Manure is low in phosphorus and most of the potash in manure is in the wrong form for tobacco.

Only enough nitrogen should be used to insure good growth. The fact that the crop remains in the field too long and is held green without ripening properly produces leaf that is high in nicotine content. A soil test is desirable for proper fertilizer practices. Tobacco likes a soil that is from 5.8 to 6.2 acidity.

Planting tobacco too often and deep produces a tobacco high in nicotine, red, and of a poor quality. Plowing only deep enough to control weeds and often enough to just break up the crust after a rain is recommended.

Tobacco should be allowed to be in full bloom (three out of four plants in bloom) before topping. Then it should be suckered only once with the two top suckers left, and these should then be cut out just ahead of the knife. The tobacco should be allowed to really ripen or yellow before cutting. Priming was recommended to save valuable bottom leaves.

Rotate Tobacco Land
The return to rotation of tobacco fields, field nicotine tests were run on one field where continuous cultivation was practiced and that the nicotine content averaged almost 6%. He said for some unknown reason the ability to land to produce frog-eyed tobacco, so much in demand by buyers, seemed to disappear under continuous culture. He cited examples in results in Bluegrass soils where tobacco had been growing for 40 years or more to stress this point.

These are the practices recommended to produce a low nicotine high quality crop. The farmer may ask—What's in it for me? A continued prosperous burley tobacco enterprise in Kentucky, is the answer. This is the most important problem which the Kentucky burley tobacco industry ever faced! Each farmer is urged to put forth an effort to produce a "low nicotine" high quality crop for 1955.

Virgie Flannery, 54,
Dies On Feb. 11th

Mrs. Virgie Kidd Flannery, 54, of Morehead R. 3, died at her home Feb. 11.

Funeral services were conducted at the Wyatt church Sunday by Rev. Allie Brown and Rev. Chas. Vansant.

Burial was in the family cemetery near the home under direction of Lane Funeral Home of Morehead.

COW BRANCH SCHOOL IN AUGUST, 1922

WHERE ARE THEY NOW

Presented By Arthur Johnson

This is a picture of Cow Branch school August 22, 1922. The teacher was Edna Barker of Cane.

This school was on the hill between the mouth of Cow Branch and Lenox, on the farm now belonging to Arthur Conley. It was then called McClain school. The building burned in 1924 and was rebuilt further up Cow Branch.

In 1927 the school was moved to Lick Branch and became Lick Branch school. Cow Branch school was established the same year and is called Banner school.

McClain, Ruth Walsh, Goldie Cook and Maud Cook.

In the second row are: Earnest Thompson, Raymond Caskey, Otha Vaughan, Wenford Caskey, Thelma Walsh, Oshie Vaughan, Dortha McClain, Leonard McKenzie, Edna Williams and Gladys McKenzie.

Third row: Eulice Trimble, Verge Lewis, Ollie Boyd Day, Paul Thompson, Mae Caskey, Selma McClain, Nora, Liddie and Phoebe Johnson.

In the back row are Audie Hill, Lou Fairchild, Essie Pelfrey, Ethel Pelfrey, and Kelly Caskey, and seated in the window is Emitt Caskey.

These children are now scattered in many states far from this peaceful scene of 1922.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

The pastor, Rev. Meyers, has returned from the Lexington hospital and will conduct the regular services.

Each one who can will this Sunday receive a dime-a-day coin card to be used during Lenten Season which begins February 23. The days preceding Easter known as Lent, should have a very real meaning for every Christian. Let each make it a time for deeper consecration and devotion to Christ and his cause.

Also it is to be a time when every one, and church members in particular, are to be at the Sunday morning and night services if at all possible. An individual registration will be kept.

Let God, the Church, your neighbor, yourself—let everybody know that Christ is real and that He lives in you.

SALYERSVILLE STAYS "DRY"

Salsersville's two city precincts voted dry in a local option election Tuesday 334 to 170. Salsersville and Magoffin county have been dry heretofore. Catlettsburg, which has been wet for many years, became dry last week when the Court of Appeals affirmed a vote of 25 majority for local option in June of 1953.

Methodist Youth Enjoy Valentine Party Monday

Members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship and their guests enjoyed a Valentine party Monday night at the home of Helen Carol Stafford, with Helen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stafford, as hosts.

The party took place in the play room at the Stafford home which had been artistically decorated for the occasion. Red paper hearts, red and white crepe paper streamers and clusters of balloons were used in the decorations.

A number of games were played, after which refreshments of individual cakes and hot chocolate were served. The cakes carried out the Valentine theme. On each cake was a pink heart, centered with a cluster of pink rosebuds and green leaves. The cakes were made and decorated by Mrs. Clyde Helton.

Mr. Whitt To Speak To Methodist Youth

Bernard E. Whitt will be guest speaker at the Sunday evening MYF meeting at six o'clock at the local Methodist church. Mr. Whitt has worked with young people in school activities for a number of years and will prove to be an entertaining speaker.

Twenty young people were present at last week's meeting. Miss Ollie Marie Nickell, president, was in charge of the devotion and business session.

The meeting adjourned at 6:30 to the basement where refreshments of hot chocolate and home made cakes were served by Mrs. Stanley Gullett, after which Major Gardner led the group in a game.

An invitation is extended to all young people in West Liberty and vicinity to attend these meetings. Age limits are from about 12 to 23. If there are young people who do not attend a youth group and who would like to belong to the MYF, they are urged to attend Sunday night at six o'clock.

Julian Gabbard Has Position In Indiana

Atty. Julian Gabbard went to Terre Haute, Ind. Sunday where he has accepted a position as attorney in the real estate department of the Mid Continent Petroleum Corporation. Mr. Gabbard, a graduate of the University of Kentucky College of Law, has been a member of the firm of Gardner & Gabbard here the past ten months. He will be stationed in Terre Haute in his new position.

Cost-Sharing Helps Grassland Farming

Grassland farming is encouraged by cost sharing under the Agricultural Conservation Program, says the Department of Agriculture at Washington.

"Generally, ACP provides up to 50 percent of the average cost of seedbed preparation, seed, fertilizer and lime where needed to establish permanent vegetative cover for soil protection," it is announced.

"This is true, also, when land-use adjustment is needed, where grasses and legumes are seeded in crop rotation or for winter cover. Also under a recent change in the Agricultural Conservation Program, any farmer is eligible for ACP assistance for planting cover or green-manure crops on land to be shifted from crop production this year."

"In areas where damage from drought is sufficiently severe, authority has been extended for emergency ACP measures... Provision also is provided for growing emergency forage crops in areas where feed may have to be shipped in to maintain livestock."

AMBULANCE CALLS OF WEST LIBERTY FUNERAL HOME

Wayne Sargent of Blaze was removed to a Lexington hospital Friday and returned to West Liberty Sunday.

Rosevelt Howell of Redwine was removed from the West Liberty Hospital to a Lexington hospital Feb. 14.

Mrs. Robert L. Meyers of West Liberty was returned from a Lexington hospital to the West Liberty Hospital Feb. 14.

Ed Dennis was removed from his home in West Liberty to a hospital in Ashland Feb. 14.

GRASSY CREEK— OBSERVES HIS 54TH BIRTHDAY

GRASSY CREEK, Ky.—(By Mrs. Maggie McClure)—Joe Frank Gevedon celebrated his 54th birthday at his home Sunday, Feb. 13. A delicious turkey dinner and all the trimmings was served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Motley and children David, Sandra and Sheila, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gevedon and son Danny and daughter Joan Karen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferguson and children Charles Jr., Sharon and Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Mort Peyton, Daisy Carter, Joe Millard Stacy, and Alma McClure.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertrum Gevedon and family spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jr. Elam at West Liberty.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Gibbs visited Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Gibbs' father, Walter Potter. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. James Henry at Cottle.

Mrs. Myrtle Ferguson of Stacy Fork spent the past week end with Mrs. Judy Haney and Amos Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart recently visited with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brantley at Winchester.

Mrs. John Rose and Mrs. Harold Rose of Ezel were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mrs. Ova Amyx.

Mrs. Daisy Carter is now making her home with her father, Joe Millard Stacy, since the death of her mother, Mrs. Laura Stacy.

Ova Amyx recently completed a new post office building joining Stewart's General Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Ferguson have returned from a week's visit in Middletown. They were called to see their daughter Lena who suffered a heart attack.

Mrs. Evelyn May has returned to her work in Lexington as nurse in a nursing home. She has been with her sister, Mrs. D. B. McGuire, most of the winter.

Billy McGuire has gone to Middletown, O. where he has employment.

Susie Coffey of Caney has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Allen several days.

Mrs. Grace Cecil has installed a new bathroom in their home.

Astor Barker of Caney wrote of the Addingtons as his ancestors. William Addington was born in London around 1750. He came to America at about twenty years of age as a tourist. He was educated in the fine schools of London. He fought in the Revolutionary War and was present at the surrender of Cornwallis in 1781. I am the great, great, great granddaughter of William Addington of London. He is also the same relation to Lula Killgore Spencer, mother of Dr. Alce Spencer of West Liberty. We should be very proud to be a descendant of him. I may try and work out his descendants down to the present generation for my work as D.A.R. Historian.

Cannel City Mission Group Met Thursday

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Cannel City First Church of God met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Dee Spencer.

The meeting was opened by the singing of "I Know My Name Is There." Scripture reading and prayer were by the hostess. The members voted to change the name of the club from Ladies Sewing Circle to The Ladies Missionary Society. It was also decided that a certain amount of money be sent to Bro. Estes in appreciation of his radio program. Mrs. Rebecca Lykins volunteered to set up a quilt top.

Members and guests present were Geneva Allen, Myrtle Benton, Melissa Fletcher, Lula Benton, Coleen Davis, Ada Benton, Wonnice Barker, Flora Patrick, Francis Benton, Nannie Benton, Rebecca Lykins, Sada Burton, Mae Oney, Dottie Morris, Eva Arnett, Eunice Hutton, Mrs. Ren Morris and the hostess, Mrs. Dee Spencer. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Coleen Davis on Feb. 17.

FLORRESS— 'Twas 22 BELOW AT FLORRESS, SAID

FLORRESS, Ky., Feb. 15—(By Nora Easterling)—One of the worst winter storms struck in and around our community, starting with freezing rain turning to snow measuring 6 inches, smooth measure. This was followed by a sharp wind, gathering snow, whirling it into the air, covering tracks and paths almost as soon as they were made and settling down to sub-zero weather. T. H. Easterling lives in the center of storm belts at Florress, where winds hit from Honeymoon Hollow, main Lacy Creek and over on the river. Weather readings there were 2 degrees below zero Saturday morning and 22 degrees below zero Sunday morning. Weather like this storm just might get farmers interested in raising sheep.

McGuire-Coffee Vows

On go the wedding bells as Miss Shirley Ann McGuire of Florress became the bride of Mitchell Coffee of Cisco. They were married Feb. 4 by Warren Bailey of Salsville. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude McGuire and a very active 4-H club worker in our community. Mr. Coffee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Coffee of Cisco and a promising young farmer.

Revs. Walter Easterling, James Lemaster and Dan, Lemaster, Jr. visited and took part in prayer services at Rev. and Mrs. Leslie Gevedon's home. They report Rev. Gevedon somewhat improved.

Louise and Judy McGuire were Friday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ova Jenkins of Cisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Lan Lyons and Lowell of Crockett were visiting on Pelfrey Branch last week.

Miss Catherine Coffee of Cisco was a Monday night guest of the Claude McGuire family.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Oney shopped in West Liberty Tuesday. Mr. Oney made a business trip to Mt. Sterling Wednesday.

Mrs. E. T. Nickell has purchased a new electric stove.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Lemaster and children of Louisville visited Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Easterling and Mrs. Mary Lemaster.

Douglas and Ruby Lemaster spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Conley and Naomi.

Charity For the Sick
Charity is not dead in our community. Mrs. E. T. Nickell, Mrs. Arlie Nickell and Mrs. Stanley Haney each gave Mrs. Wesley Bolin a quilt. Mrs. Bolin is unable to work and they are very much in need. Others have given them food. Jones Creek church gave Rev. Walter Easterling and your writer a double blanket, which has been very much appreciated this cold weather. We wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Collins, Mrs. Catherine Davis of Jones Creek, and Mrs. Herbert Hammond and Mrs. Bert Hammond of Cottle for this gift.

James Johnson of Cow Branch visited Rev. and Mrs. Wm. W. Easterling, Mr. and Mrs. James Conley and family and Naomi Conley, Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Easterling and Dora, Mrs. Dan Lemaster of Florress and Rev. and Mrs. Walter Johnson and family of Cottle Sunday. He reports everyone well on Cow Branch.

Mrs. Dovey Easterling recently visited Mrs. D. N. Cottle of West Liberty, who is an invalid, and reports Mrs. Cottle was piecing quilt tops and in very good spirit.

Aged Lady Keeps Busy
Mrs. Naomi Conley, 85, has pieced four quilt tops by hand this winter. She is not afraid of snow and ice. I really believe she could skate on ice.

The Myrtle Hackney family has moved from the James Elam residence to Ezra Suptin's farm.

Cpl. Dan Lemaster, Jr., and Rev. James P. Lemaster visited Sunday with the Revs. E. T. and Arlie Nickell.

I don't object to finding faults in other people near so much as I do telling others about them. In other words, I don't like gossip.

Mrs. Sewell Hamilton reports that it has been fine weather recently for using the electric blanket their daughter Era Nell Black of Akron, Ohio bought for them Christmas.

Mrs. Bonnie Nickell became ill Saturday. Dr. Spencer of West Liberty was called Sunday morning. Mrs. Nickell is still very ill.

Mrs. Aura Mae Johnson has been very ill, but is better.

Mrs. Mary Susan Lemaster was taken to Dr. Hall of Salsville last week. She is better.

Our grandson, Danny Ray Williams, age 2, had a bad habit of running away when he got outside. While he was visiting here, he darted out the door and down through the front yard before I could catch him. He ran into a baby rambler rose briar. The more he pulled the more it caught him. I said, "What is wrong, Danny?" He replied, "Whoo, Maw-maw, a booger got me."

Consolation—One cold day some men were busy at work. They were very cold. J. V. Henry came up and said, "Well, boys, you won't have to fight gnats today."

Cantrell Will Plead For Chandler's Support

Gordon Ford, Ky.
February 15, 1955
To The Citizens and My Friends:
I expect to be at Cannel City on Aug. 6, 1955, to plead for the support of Happy Chandler for Governor of Kentucky.

Very truly yours,
—Mrs. Florence Cottle Cantrell

LONG BRANCH

(By Mrs. Clyde Cantrell)
Feb. 14—Clyde Cantrell and Ollie Litteral made a trip to Donahue which was quite an experience they will not forget soon. Nettie Cantrell, teacher at Donahue, which is 13 miles from Morehead but in Morgan county on the other side of Licking River, is taken each Monday morning and brought back each Friday evening by jeep, because it is the only thing that will travel over the roads they are so bad. Many times this winter she has had to walk two miles and cross the river in a boat, as they could not get there in a jeep. There are 12 bright, intelligent students enrolled at Donahue with an average attendance of 91%. They are very interested in learning and the parents are also interested in getting them an education. The little plank schoolhouse is small, and the cracks are about one inch wide in the floor. It is heated by wood, as it is impossible to get coal there unless it is taken in dry summer weather. On this particular day, Friday, Feb. 9, the snow measured 10 to 12 inches around the ridge. These two men went early that morning to get the jeep at the county work shop and after trying for 1½ hours, it wouldn't start. They therefore started in a pickup truck. They plowed through snow until it banked in front of them and the road was so bad they had to get out and walk. They walked about six miles until they met the teacher at the river, and then walked the six miles back to the truck. If we remember right, the temperature stood between 15 and 20 degrees Friday all day. They finally arrived home about 3 o'clock, almost frozen.

I often wonder what many of us would do if we were isolated in that community. Most everyone in Morgan county has fair roads. And if they get muddy, they are whining around the County Judge for a load of gravel. There is no way of getting their groceries. They have to walk two or three miles. If any one gets sick, how would they get a doctor in or the patient out? Rev. Hemphill from Wrigley goes every two weeks and teaches Bible class. Of course, he rides a jeep, and, as others do, walks on. If there is any doubt to this road story, ask our County Superintendent or O. P. McKenzie or Charley Turner. Many trips have they made over this stretch of road to meet the teacher as far as they could get.

Is there any thing that could be said or done that would help the people "on the other side of the river"?

The community of Gritterville has been quiet and peaceful this week, on account of bad weather. No news, no comings or goings. Everybody playing safe and keeping their cars off the road.

KELLACEY

(By Carol Carpenter)
Feb. 14—Julia Ann, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Peyton, has had bronchitis but is better.

Thurman Ward, after spending a week in Ohio, has returned reporting jobs are scarce and hard to find.

Sunday school at Toms Branch was omitted Sunday due to the weather and road conditions, but will continue when the weather clears up.

The many friends here of Miss Ruth Bemis of Pennsylvania who has been such a devoted teacher at Ezel, were saddened by her passing. She has left behind her a life that will flourish and radiate through the years, like bread cast upon the water which will not return void but will accomplish the purpose for which it was sent. She did not live in vain.

Rev. and Mrs. John Heykoop of Ezel called on Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mays and writer and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cox and family Sunday afternoon.

TWO QUILTS

Those who met at the Christian church Tuesday to quilt were Miss Lydia Easterling, Mrs. Grace Wells, Mrs. Lou Hurley, Mrs. W. H. Wells and Tom Wells.

Those meeting to quilt Thursday were Miss Josephine McGuire, Mrs. W. H. Wells, Mrs. Grace Wells, Mrs. Lou Hurley, Mrs. Beulah Ratliff, Mrs. Grace Adkins, Mrs. George Blankenship, Mrs. Tom Wells, and Mrs. Maud Perry. Josephine McGuire had charge of the devotional, reading the eighth chapter of 1st Kings, also reading an article on prayer, followed by a song and sentence prayer.

Soil Tests Should Be Made Now For Greatest Benefit, Sinclair Says

County Agricultural Agent Carl W. Sinclair says farmers should bring their soil samples to the Extension office for soil tests.

If Kentucky farmers are to get the best results from the soil-testing program and from fertilizing according to the recommendations made, soil samples must be taken properly and delivered to the soil-testing laboratory in good condition. They must be representative of the area if the results are to represent the level of fertility to the area. The technician who makes the tests, and the county agent who is responsible for the program and makes the fertilizer recommendations, exercise a great deal of care in processing the soil sample. The farmer or other person who takes the sample from the field or area, should use equal precautions if maximum reliability in the results are to be obtained. It is to be remembered that test results and fertilizer recommendations are no better than the sample taken and delivered to the laboratory.

The three tools most commonly recommended for taking soil samples are soil sampling tubes, augers and spades. A clean bucket should be at hand for mixing the samples and clean, heavy paper bags should be used to deliver the samples to the laboratory.

A wood auger (brace and bit) and a spade can be found on nearly every farm in Kentucky and these are good tools for sampling soils if used properly. Some farmers find it convenient to use an iron pipe. This can be made more useful by cutting out one side with an emery wheel, making it similar to a sampling tube.

The sample is best taken from the field when the soils is dry enough to plow. While it can be done when the ground is wet, it is then much more difficult to mix the soil so the portion to the laboratory is representative. It is also more difficult to prepare for analysis.

If the soil is not dry when it is taken from the field, it should be air-dried and all lumps crushed before the sample is delivered to the Extension office. Do not dry the soil over a stove or radiator.

A sample can be taken more quickly and easily when a soil-sampling tube or auger is used rather than a spade, and usually it will be more likely to represent the area.

When using an auger or soil-sampling tube, make a boring six inches deep, or no deeper than the soil is usually plowed, and pull up the soil. When a spade is used, dig a V-shaped hole six inches deep, or deeper, and cut a thin slice from the side of the hole. The boring or slice of soil removed should consist of a sample extending from the surface to a depth of six inches, or plow-layer depth. All grass and trash should be removed from the surface before a boring is made, or before the slice is collected with the spade.

There should be 10 or more samplings taken with the auger, sampling tube, or spade from each field or area. All samplings should be placed in a clean bucket or box as they are taken in the field. Mix them thoroughly, then place a pint of this soil in a clean paper sack as the sample to be tested for that area. Mark the sack with the field name or field number from which it was taken, plus the farmer's name and address.

If a field is uniform in soil-type, fertility, slope, and crop growth, and if fertilizer and lime treatment have been the same over the entire field, one composite sample of 10 or more samplings is sufficient.

If the field varies in soil-type, fertility, slope, or if the crop growth varies in different parts of the field, or if fertilizer and lime treatment on various parts of the field have varied during recent years, a composite sample of 10 or more borings should be taken from each area.

Old house sites, small garden plots, and places where lime or manure have been piled in a field should be avoided. If a larger field has a fertile basin or a poor knoll that is so small that a farmer cannot afford to change his fertilizer application when he comes to that area in his operations, they should be avoided in sampling. If the basins or knolls are large enough in area that they should be fertilized separately, a composite sample should be taken from them and one from the remainder of the field.

Before limestone and fertilizer recommendations can be properly made, past cropping-history, soil treatments, and future cropping plans must be known by the county agent. This knowledge of the field is supplied when the farmer fills out the information sheet correctly.

an ELECTRIC CLOTHES DRYER

can cut ironing time in half!

Only an ELECTRIC dryer gives you all these features:

- Safe and clean as electric light.
- No flame, no fumes, no fading.
- Costs less to buy.

Yes... you can save 1½ hours of ironing each week when you dry clothes electrically. Many things like towels, knit goods, and corduroys come out wrinkle-free—need no ironing at all. For others you just set the dryer dial and they come out damp-dry ready to be ironed without sprinkling.

You'll dry an 8-lb. wash in about an hour without carrying baskets, bending or stretching. That's why we call the electric clothes dryer "world's greatest wife saver." Get one soon.

MOREHEAD RADIO STATION TO OPEN FRIDAY, FEB. 18

To Broadcast on 1330 Kilocycles
During Daytime

MOREHEAD, Ky., Feb. 15—The Morehead Broadcasting Company's 1,000-watt radio station WMOR will go on the air Friday, Feb. 18, at 9 a.m.

The new station, under the general management of William Betts, past president of the Kentucky Broadcasting Association, will operate on an assigned frequency of 1330 kilocycles. The main offices are located on the second floor of the Monarch Building on Morehead's Main Street.

Senator William J. Sample is president of the Morehead Broadcasting Company and Roy Corneille and Claude L. Clayton are treasurer and secretary respectively. William Whitaker is commercial manager of the station and Gary Pinkerman, formerly with the staff of Radio Station WCPO, Cincinnati, is program director.

Other members of the staff include: chief engineer, Earl S. Young; assistant engineer, Murval Hall; traffic manager, Betty Wood; announcers, Don Holway, Don Young, Billy Pierce and Alva Knechtly.

Senator Sample announced today that the arrangements for the opening day broadcasts will be under the general direction of Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, and will consist of live programs presenting local talent.

Senator Sample said, "We want to make Station WMOR a community project which will contribute to the cultural, educational and economic life of the area."

Mr. Whitaker announced that the modernly equipped studios and offices are open for inspection and invites the public to visit them.

The radio station will be identified as "The Home of Morehead State College," said Senator Sample.

TWO ATTORNEYS FACE SUSPENSION

At Frankfort, six-month suspensions from law practice were recommended by the State Board of Bar Commissioners for Jesse K. Lewis, Lexington, and Burnis Martin, Prestonsburg.

Lewis is a former assistant attorney general and one-time member of the State Public Service Commission. Martin is Commonwealth's attorney of the 31st Judicial District—Floyd County.

Martin and Lewis were accused of making scurrilous statements directed at Judge Porter Sims, when he was chief justice of the Court of Appeals in 1953, and at Jefferson Circuit Judge Lawrence S. Grauman, Louisville, who served as special judge of Floyd Circuit Court.

Complaints against the two attorneys stemmed from the filing of several lawsuits late in 1952 by members of a Floyd County Democratic faction known locally as the "Taxpayers League." The suits accused County Judge Henry Stumbo and other county officials of mis-applying county funds. The defendants were members of the opposing Democratic faction who were expected to seek election, or re-election, in the county elections of 1953.

In a statement issued at Lexington, Lewis said, in part: "In the first place, I want to assert that I am not guilty of any violation of law, legal ethics, or rules of court and that I will resist with all my strength the efforts which are being made to destroy me."

At Prestonsburg, Lewis said, in part: "I don't think the board understands the true implications of this. If they reinvestigated, they would." Martin said the board of bar commissioners has not had a "fair chance to investigate" his case.

Later in the week, Chief Justice Brady M. Stewart announced that all seven judges of the Court of Appeals have declined to sit in judgment on the cases involving the two attorneys.

People who put off their work from day to day are always the ones who tell you how very busy they are.

PLAN NOW FOR LAMBING TIME

The most important time of the year for the sheep farmer—lambing time—has arrived in Morgan County and throughout Kentucky according to Morgan County Agent, Carl W. Sinclair. Kentucky ranks first in the nation in spring lambing production.

The sheep-raiser should plan his work so as to have extra time for the flock during the lambing season. Saving a few additional lambs will more than pay for the expense and time involved. Suitable lambing quarters should be provided, individual lambing pens made ready. Lambing time is the sheep owner's harvest season and he must be properly prepared for it if he is to save the crop.

Lambing quarters where ewes and newborn lambs will be sheltered from cold and bad weather should be provided, well bedded with fresh clean straw. While there should be plenty of ventilation, it is important to guard against drafts and small openings through which lambs may wonder and be lost or frozen. The quarters should be roomy, as over crowding the ewes at this time is likely to be followed by serious consequences. All gates and doors about the farm through which ewes heavy in lamb are likely to squeeze should be made wide or kept closed.

Portable lambing pens or "mothering up" pens are less expensive and more satisfactory in every way than the satisfactory kind. Two panels or hurdles four feet long and three feet wide, hinged in the middle, may be set across a corner to form a pen four feet square, which is usually used for lambing. Pens four feet by six feet or five feet by five feet can be recommended where there is plenty of room. Probably one individual pen to every four or five ewes should be enough. Since a ewe generally will not need to be penned more than one or two days and only a small percentage of the flocks will be lambing at one time, each pen can be used a number of times. It may be necessary in case of yearling ewes and ewes with weak lambs to keep them in pens longer than two days.

The farmer should assemble a supply of drugs, disinfectants and equipment likely to be needed during the season. This should include tincture of iodine for use on navels of young lambs to prevent tetanus infection of "stiff lambs," carbolic oil (1 ounce carbolic acid, 1 quart olive oil) for use on shepherd's hands as he assists at lambing time, antibiotics for weak lambs or for treating of caked udders in ewes, syringes, nursing bottle and nipple, rubber gloves, and 10 percent argyrol or other suitable preparation for treating sore eyes in lambs.

The ewes, at this time, should be kept away from other animals, particularly horses and dogs, as horses are liable to injure them with their feet and hogs will readily eat young lambs. As the lambing season approaches the flock should be housed or penned at night, but ewes should not be penned before lambing. In giving birth to twins, a ewe that is forced to lamb in close quarters will sometimes mash the first lamb while giving birth to the second. Check page 14 in the "Kentucky Circular 346," "Lambing Time" for symptoms of ewes just prior to lambing time.

During this time the shepherd should keep in close touch with the flock during the day and visit it a number of times at night, closely observing each ewe and giving help when needed. There is an old scotch herdsman's saying, "The eye of the master fattens the flock." Check page 14 and 15 in the circular "Lambing Time" for the proper position in lambing.

The important thing following the birth of a lamb is to see that the ewe claims it, that it gets a fill of warm milk and that it is dried off and put into an individual pen with its mother away from the flock. When a ewe is allowed to claim her lamb some of the ewe's milk rubbed on the lamb's rump and nose and on her own nose will often prove effective. Check page 16 and 17 in the circular "Lambing Time". The recommended feeding practice should be continued. Small grain pastures are excellent for ewes and lambs.

Going to church regularly may not be your habit, but it would be a good habit for you to have.

Prices of farm machinery and equipment are expected to be about the same this year as last.

HOMEMAKERS GET LESSONS AT MEET

Project leaders from homemakers clubs in Morgan held a meeting in the basement of the Christian church here Wednesday. This was a school of instruction directed by Mrs. Pearl Haak of the University of Kentucky. She gave demonstrations on yeast bread.

Mrs. Haak said that the bread was much better and cheaper than that purchased on the market. Twenty-four cents worth of flour, four cents worth of yeast and two cents worth of other ingredients were sufficient to make 50 rolls which would sell on the market for $1.50 to $2.00, she said. The demonstrations were made by Mrs. Haak to club leaders, who return to their clubs and present the demonstrations. The leaders are given the recipes, which are not made public until the local clubs meet.

Leaders attending and their clubs were—Ezel Progressive Club—Dorothy Rose and Mrs. Eli McGuire; Pine Grove—Mrs. Raymond Bryant and Mrs. Dexter Meuse; Stacy Fork—Mrs. Hayden Ratliff and Mrs. Herman Arnett; West Liberty—Mrs. J. Blaine Nickell and Mrs. Eva Nevius; Caney—Mrs. Luther Reed and Mrs. Walter Barker; Index—Mrs. Zella Collins. (The other leader, Mrs. Bessie Halsey, is in Texas where her mother is seriously ill.)

Hazel Green—Mrs. M. C. Nickell and Mrs. Sam Cecil. There are 108 members in the clubs in Morgan county and Mrs. Rose said new members are welcome.

The Caney club was host to the other leaders at the meeting.

Mrs. Haak said the clubs meet once each month at the home of some member where demonstrations are carried out by leaders.
